Dr. Leonard Sax to Present at Atlanta Classical Academy

Every parent or teacher has witnessed children acting disrespectfully to adults at one point or another, whether in a restaurant, doctor's office, grocery store, or even in your own home. We now see children as young as 2 with some sort of hand-held electronic devices in their hands. Anxiety and depression rates are quadrupling in our adolescents. And, at one time or another, we've all heard these words come out of our mouths: "Children never acted that way when I was growing up!" So, what's changed?

Please join us on March 1, 2017 at 7:00 pm to hear psychologist, author, and family physician Dr. Leonard Sax address fundamental issues of raising respectful children, curtailing social media and electronics in our children's lives, and how we can better support our children as they face challenges. His presentation will be followed by an opportunity for Q&A from the audience.

Please plan to attend this highly informative and worthwhile presentation for Atlanta Classical Academy parents. Please click here to RSVP for

Enthusiasts

We are making plans to sponsor another student-led backpacking adventure during Spring Break (April 3-7, 2017). This year's goal is to complete the well-known Art Loeb Trail—an acclaimed and popular trail that has been called one of the top ten hikes in North America. The Art Loeb traverses the mountains of North Carolina near Asheville. Be on the lookout for an interest meeting in the near future. Both students and parents are welcome!

Don't forget to send in your Box Tops beginning Wednesday, February 15 to help us earn money for Atlanta Classical Academy. Collection boxes will be in the front office and cafeteria through Wednesday, February 22.
